Local Chamber Adopts $12,000 1960 Budget

Hope Chamber of Commerce last night adopted a 1960 budget of $12,000, approved an ambitious work program for the new year and went on record as opposing the proposed new egg grading bill in the special session of the Arkansas Legislature.

Directors voiced their opposition to the new egg grading bill as they said it would lower the barriers and permit out-of-state producers to dump inferior eggs on the Arkansas market.

A survey showed there was much opposition by commercial egg and poultry dealers in Southwest Arkansas to the new bill, as well as retail grocery stores in this area.

As the new directors voted on the work program for 1960, they also passed a resolution which indicated that no "dead wood" would be carried among the directors. The resolution said that if any director missed as many as three consecutive board meetings he would be requested to resign — unless he had a good excuse for being absent.

The organization made further plans for the appearance here of Gov. Orval Faubus the night of Feb. 2 to address the annual membership meeting and banquet at the National Guard Armory.

Circuit Judge Lyle Brown and County Judge U. G. Garrett, Ray Turner and others worked on the program and appointed Jewel Moore as ticket chairman for the annual event.

Five hundred tickets have been printed and the meeting is open to the public at $2.50 per ticket. Mr. Turner said he had received inquiries from all over the county and that some communities were planning to send delegations to Hope.

Gov. Faubus will bring a message on the industrial expansion of Arkansas and what the new tax-exempt city and county revenue bonds will mean for areas desiring industrial expansion.

Jack Lowe, a past president of the chamber, was present last night and will aid the organization in planning a new membership drive that will be launched in the near future.

Mr. Lowe spoke briefly and said he felt that every business firm in Hope should have a stake in the community life and its betterment and would be invited to do so . . . by joining the chamber and supporting its program.

Bill Would Require Search of Airliners

WASHINGTON (AP) — A bill which would require airlines to make preflight searches of luggage and cargo for bombs and other destructive items was introduced in the House today.

Rep. James G. O'Hara (D-Mich.) offered the measure which would require examination of all articles except mail taken aboard commercial passenger aircraft. Private planes and cargo carriers would be exempt.

O'Hara said it would not necessarily require that passengers open all luggage because X-ray equipment "may provide adequate examinations."

Senate investigators have suggested that bombings may have been involved in the recent destruction of two airliners with a loss of 76 lives.

Wildlife Association Plans Projects

HOPE (AP) — Officers and directors of the Hempstead Wildlife Association met last night at Diamond Cafe and discussed objectives for the coming year. The membership drive was discussed as well as the Bole d' Arc project and it was pointed out that the Game and Fish Commission definitely plans to complete this project during 1960. The group plans to join Ducks Unlimited and the U. S. Federation of Wildlife Associations. The executive committee to serve with President Dorsey McRae include: Dub Flowers, J. D. Boswell, Wallace Monroe and R. M. Jones. C. P. Rettig will head the membership committee. Jerome Duffie the Program and R. M. Jones will handle publicity. Left to right in the picture: President Dorsey McRae, Richard Arnold, Dub Flowers, Lester Wade, Garland Kidd, R. M. Jones, Vic Cobb, J. D. Boswell, Ernest Graham, C. P. Rettig and Jerome Duffie.

First President, Two Other Charter Members Review 32 Years of Kiwanis Club in Hope

HOPE (AP) — The Kiwanis Club of Hope celebrated its 32nd anniversary and on hand as a charter member and first president of the club was W. S. Atkins, local attorney, who delivered the principal address.

Two other charter members, Alex. Davis and Harry Hawthorne, were also present and spoke briefly. Mr. Hawthorne is still a regular member of the club.

Praises Youth Program. Mr. Atkins delivered an inspiring address, reviewing events of 32 years ago and on down through the years. He pointed to changes in community, state and governmental affairs.

He praised the Kiwanis Club for an outstanding job with the youth program of Hope, declaring it to be the most valuable of all its endeavors.

He then turned to juvenile delinquency with all its woes and heartaches and said it was one of the nation's great problems of today.

He urged the club to continue its time and effort and money by adding the youth to have better and more wholesome facilities for recreation and community life because "it is the service we give to our fellow man and to our youth that makes our community and country bigger and better."

High Gear to Patmos. Mr. Davis, a former postmaster, told the club that 32 years ago it required an entire day to make the round trip from Hope to Patmos because of poor road conditions and transportation facilities of that time.

As the years passed, automobiles became more popular and I longed to see the day when I could go to Patmos in high gear," he recalled. The speaker also praised the activities of the club and wished it a happy future.

The Rev. George M. Peery, pastor of the Nazarene Church, was introduced as a new member and guests of the club were Guy Grigg and David McKenzie.

Tuesday's program was arranged by Charles Tarpley and Jack Lowe.

Legislature Has Minor Threat of Controversy

By JOHN R. STARR

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Attorney William J. Smith told the Arkansas House today that Gov. Orval Faubus' bond proposal would permit industrial profits to pay off bond indebtedness rather than going for taxes.

Smith, a top-lip drafter and close adviser of Faubus, said income from the bonds would be exempt from most taxes.

That would make the bonds easier to sell.

But Smith added that the chief advantage is this:

Industrial plant facilities financed by the bonds would not be subject to the customary ad valorem taxes because they would be owned by governmental units.

As a result, operators of the plants leasing them from cities or counties could apply profits to their rent.

In turn, the governmental units could use the rents to retire the bonds quicker than otherwise would be possible.

Equipment owned by the industries would be subject to ad valorem taxes.

The Little Rock lawyer said that "if the state had started this program 20 years ago we would have industrial buildings all over the state already paid for and would have a real attractive proposition for industry."

The House invited Smith to discuss the governor's proposals on the second day of the current session.

ONE THREAT OF CONTROVERSY HUNG over the Legislature as it prepared for speedy action on the governor's proposals to extend governmental participation in industrial financing.

The discord centered around a 1959 egg-grading law, one of the eight minor items Faubus included with three major industrial financing proposals when he called the 62nd General Assembly into special session.

Faubus asked for, and a bill was introduced for, an amendment to exempt eggs bought directly from a producer for direct resale to the consumer.

But Cloburne Rep. Glenn P. Houston introduced a bill to repeal the law and other legislators said their constituents favored leaving it as it is.

Otherwise, yesterday's opening day was smoothly routine. Except for listening to Faubus' 45-minute opening address in joint session, each house met for only about 20 minutes — long enough to call the roll and hear the governor's bills read for the first and second times. Each house is expected to pass its version of the 11 measures today and send them to the other house for action. All legislators questioned agreed the special session should end tomorrow.

The lawmakers gave Faubus a routine standing ovation when he entered and left the House chamber and interrupted his speech four times with mild applause. However, reception of the governor's speech fell short of the rousing acclamation accorded Faubus in a 1958 special session when he asked for new anti-inflation laws.

Some observers said Faubus' speech sounded like fourth-term campaign oratory. Much of the governor's talk was a glowing review of his administration.

The governor plugged hard for three new industrial financing proposals. One of these would allow cities and counties to issue revenue bonds to finance industry, a second would permit cities and counties to band together for the same purpose and the third would authorize the state Board of Finance to buy up to two million dollars worth of bonds (issued under the first law).

The proposed bonds could be issued — as in the case of other similar bonds — only after receiving majority approval of residents of the affected areas.

The maximum interest rate would be 6 per cent.

The bonds would be indebtedness against revenue only and not charges against taxable property of the issuing governmental unit of units.

Proceeds would be used for communities and municipalities to acquire land, construct buildings and the like.

The indebtedness would be retired by rent from industries leasing.

Portland, Ore. Throttled by Heavy Snow

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — Thick snow today throttled Portland and its 373,000 residents.

It stifled activity everywhere in a city accustomed to winter's balmy touch of rain and warming winds from the Pacific.

Up to a foot of snow forced widespread closure of stores and schools and stranded hundreds of suburbanites who sought shelter in jammed downtown hotels.

Three deaths here were attributed to the storm, accompanied by icy east winds that funneled out of the Columbia River gorge.

Forecasters said they expected the cloak of snow to be several inches deep.

Man Found on Highway With Broken Neck

A series of accidents in this area last night left one man with a broken neck and four others injured in a three vehicle collision.

Between 6 and 7 o'clock last night a man listed as Joseph Nemeth, 50, was found on Highway 67, near Plaza Courts with a broken neck. He was rushed to a local hospital by an Oakes ambulance and later taken to Little Rock.

Nemeth told State Police, Warden and Pinky Sheriff Griffin and Police Chief Brown that a car hit him from behind as he walked on the left hand side of the highway. He was not cut or bruised except on the back of his head and his neck was fractured. Officers said that according to Nemeth the car would have had to go completely across the Highway to the shoulder on the wrong side to hit him.

Nemeth had been in Hope only a short time and was working as a cook at Plaza Cafe.

Alvin Sanders of Hope, driver for Coleman Dairy Co., suffered a fractured knee cap yesterday in a three-vehicle collision on Highway 67 near Prescott. State Police man Himes said an auto driven by a Mr. Huddleston of Texarkana and another driven by a Mr. Gaudry of Houston collided when the latter pulled onto the highway from a side street, driving the truck, crashed into the wreckage. Huddleston received a broken leg and Gaudry, charged with driving while intoxicated, suffered chest injuries. Property damage was heavy.

Yesterday afternoon on Highway 67 at Memory Gardens an auto driven by Mrs. Luther Iggason and another driven by Charles Swan of Ohio, collided with nobody injured but heavy property damage, according to State Troopers, Ward and Pinky.

This morning on a gravel road leading to Hope Feed Mills an auto driven by James Cornelius hit a pile of gravel while trying to avoid hitting another auto. Cornelius was knocked unconscious for a short time but was not seriously hurt, according to the City Police.

Scandinavian Jet Crashes, 58 Persons Die

By WEBB MCKINLEY

ANKARA, Turkey (AP) — Two planes crashed in Turkey a few hours apart Tuesday and all the 58 persons aboard them were believed killed.

Wreckage of a U.S. Navy plane that disappeared with 16 persons on a daylight flight from Rota, Spain, to the U.S. air base at Adana, Turkey, was sighted today on Karanfil (pink) Mountain, 15 miles northwest of Adana. Turkish sources said there was no sign of life.

Forty-two persons, all aboard, were lost in the crash of a Scandinavian Airlines jet Tuesday night on a hill near Ankara, 250 miles to the northwest.

The Ankara disaster was the third crash of a commercial airliner since 1960 began less than three weeks ago. It brought the death toll for commercial aviation this year to 126.

The U.S. Navy plane, a twin-engine P4M reconnaissance amphibian, was on a mission to locate the 1959 Arkansas Legislature.

DOROTHY DIX

Son, Daughter at Odds;
Loving Mother Grieves

Dear Dorothy Dix:
I am a mother torn between a son and daughter both married. My son is away from his wife, for what reason I do not know. I love both my children very much. They are not on speaking terms. Before my son married he was the best of friends. Once a year we went to my sister's house in the country for dinner. It was a tradition. Now, my daughter wants us to go to her house but doesn't want her brother. I want to give the dinner at home for my boy. I can't sleep nights thinking about it. Please advise me what to do.—A Heartbroken Mother

Dear Heartbroken Mother: Why do your son and daughter disagree if you don't know, find out. Talk frankly to both. Take charge. The role of peacemaker isn't easy but, as their mother, you may be able to bring them together, especially if they realize how they hurt you. Don't let either your daughter or your son take the play away from you. Give the dinner yourself. They must bury the hatchet or stay at home.

Dear Dorothy Dix:
A widower is planning to enter a retirement home. His one room will accommodate only part of the personal property he has. The question at issue in the widower's mind is what to do with the gifts given by him, relatives, friends, and organizations, to his wife. They consist of jewelry, dishes, cutlery, brassware, linens, furniture, and so on. What should the husband keep, what be given to relations, what returned to donors (at their hint or otherwise), what given to welfare institutions? What gifts, if any, may be sold—Treble

Dear Treble: I take it you're the husband. Whatever your wife will you is yours to dispose of as you wish. There are no rules. My first husband left me everything when he died. I literally spent months sending personal mementoes of his to relatives, friends, and the various institutions with which he had been affiliated. Some appreciated it; others didn't, but I have no regrets for I followed the dictates of my heart. Follow yours.

Dear Dorothy Dix:
About three months ago I met a boy at a friend's party. He was going with a friend of mine. She broke up with him and about two weeks later he started calling me. At first his calls were regular. He always arrived on time for our date. Now he may call a half hour or an hour late and offer no excuse.

My girl friend said that I should tell him I'm mad or he'll take advantage of me. I love him very much and just can't be mad at him. I know he will start taking advantage of me because my girl friend said it is all boys' nature to go that. What do you think—Troubles

Dear Troubles: You should not have dated this will-o'-the-wisp in the first place. If he faded out on your girl friend, he'll do the same with you. Chuck him!

Send your problem to DOROTHY DIX. Be sure to enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope, and address her in care of this newspaper. (Released by The Bell Syndicate)

Movie Star Testifies in Finch Slaying

By JAMES BACON

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Actor Mark Stevens today testified that he had a "bar room conversation" with Barbara Jean Finch a few days before her slaying in which she told him "I am afraid for my life."

Asked by the prosecution to identify the man who she said had threatened her, Stevens replied "Her husband, Dr. Finch."

Stevens testified at the trial of Dr. B. Bernard Finch and his mistress, pretty Carol Tregoff, on charges of murdering the wealthy physician's wife last July 18.

Stevens, who identified himself as an actor, writer, producer and director, said he had known Mrs. Finch and her husband some three or four years.

"She told me of repeated beatings and bodily harm over a period of one year," he said.

She also told of how her husband had once put her down on the floor and sat on her chest for approximately four hours while threatening her life.

A childhood playmate of Miss Tregoff testified Monday that she had introduced her to a "shady character" and that she "wanted to know his capabilities, from murder or any activity like that."

The witness, Donald S. Williams, 21, was questioned by the

Kentucky Can't Be Counted Out of Cage Title Yet

By DON WEISS
Associated Press Sports Writer

As long as Auburn and Coach J. Boone's shuffle offense keeps Georgia Tech's number one, don't count Auburn out of the Kentucky Wildcats out of another Southern Conference basketball championship.

And don't overlook Auburn either. Kentucky, well recovered from one of its poorest starts ever, needs help if it is to overhail the Georgia Tech team that beat the Wildcats in their SEC opener at Lexington Jan. 2.

Catch: "Raves" Tigers spilled sixth-ranked Tech 68-59 at Atlanta Tuesday night in one of those exciting games. SEC teams play. The result doesn't count in the SEC standings but it was Auburn's fifth-straight victory over Georgia Tech over a three-season span and it means there's a lot to come in an SEC race that now has Tech leading with a 4-0 mark to Kentucky's 4-1 and Auburn's 3-1. Had Tuesday night's game been an official league game, there would have been a three-way tie for the lead.

The official showdowns come a week apart with Kentucky out for revenge at Georgia Tech Jan. 25 and Tech at Auburn on Feb. 2.

Auburn's win featured a slant college program that also saw 20th-ranked Detroit (13-2) average an earlier loss to Notre Dame, 61-61, Texas A & M (12-1) push a half-game lead in the Southwest Conference race by beating Rice 61-43, Wake Forest (11-4) boost its Atlantic Coast Conference record to 2-2 with an 83-64 rout of Clemson, and Virginia Tech (10-2) remain unbeaten (3-0) in the Southern Conference, 95-93 over VMI in overtime.

Auburn, its shuffle offense of quick passes off a modified wave working better than ever, had four players in double figures against Tech, which had won 13 of 14 starts. Dave Vaughn was the leader with 19 points as the Tigers won their 10th against 2 defeats.

Charlie North was back to help Dave Busschere and the sophomores did the scoring in the clutch as Detroit made it 2-132 season and ended Notre Dame's fourth loss in 15 games. Busschere had 3 points while North, who missed most of Detroit's 75-63 loss to Notre Dame at South Bend Jan. 9 because of a leg injury, had 11.

The Texas Aggies' top scorer, Carroll Broussard, was held to 8 points but Wayne Lawrence stepped in with 13 and the Stanley twins, Pat and Don, with 12 and 11 to make it easy against Rice. The Aggies are 12-1 and 10th-ranked nationally.

Sophomore Len Chapell had 20 points and led rebounders and husky Dave Budd added 19 in the Wake Forest victory while VPI got its heroes from 6-foot Chris Smith, who scored 41 points and grabbed 27 rebounds, and Don Blake, who got the game winner on a lay-up just as the overtime buzzer sounded.

British Take to Bowling U. S. Style

LONDON (AP)—Bowling, American style, makes its British debut today and some Britons are so taken with it they believe it may someday threaten soccer in sports interest hereabouts.

Completely new to Britain, where skillful is the only thing comparable, a ten-pin alley will be opened to the public before a mixed group of high society and London's cockney quarter.

Major Victor Douglas Fairbanks, a representative of an American bowling equipment manufacturer, will cut the tape. Sir John Hunt, leader of the successful Mt. Everest expedition in 1953, will

Gernsey Wins 2 of 3 Games From Winthrop

At Guernsey last night the Hempstead teams won two out of three games from Winthrop.

Led by Joe O'Rourke with nine, the Guernsey Junior boys downed the Winthrop Juniors 20 to 16.

The Guernsey Senior girls led by Jo Mosier with 23 points, defeated the Winthrop girls 29 to 23 in easy fashion. Pat Callagher made 17 for the visitors.

Perry Lynn Cox tossed in 27 points for Guernsey, but Winthrop senior boys came out on the long end of the score 32 to 46.

Batesville College Turns in Surprise

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Surprising Arkansas College continued its winning ways last night at Batesville with a stunning 75-67 victory over Southwestern, Memphis.

The Highlanders stood out brilliantly on a dull Tuesday night in which no Arkansas Intercollegiate Conference games were scheduled and the only other teams to play lost intersectional bouts.

Arkansas A&M fell to Delta State 55-34 at Monicello and Harding dropped an 82-75 decision to Christian Brother College at Memphis.

Arkansas College, fresh from an overtime upset victory over league-leading Arkansas Tech last week, scored 15 points early in the game while holding Southwestern to none and raced into a lead the Highlanders never lost.

Catch: Dick Winnieham pounced his reserves into the game. Fourteen men saw action.

Francis Rogers and Sherald Jones scored 20 points each for Arkansas College. Don Sinko hit 15 in the first half before injuring a leg.

The victory evened an earlier 63-70 loss to Southwestern.

Harding's 11th defeat in 15 games came despite a 17-point performance by Steve McQueen and 15-point additions by Jim City and Steve Smith.

A&M blew a 1-point lead in the second half in its one-point loss to Delta State. Harold Mobley hit 19 and Ken Jones 13 for the Wildcats.

The Texas Aggies' top scorer, Carroll Broussard, was held to 8 points but Wayne Lawrence stepped in with 13 and the Stanley twins, Pat and Don, with 12 and 11 to make it easy against Rice. The Aggies are 12-1 and 10th-ranked nationally.

Sophomore Len Chapell had 20 points and led rebounders and husky Dave Budd added 19 in the Wake Forest victory while VPI got its heroes from 6-foot Chris Smith, who scored 41 points and grabbed 27 rebounds, and Don Blake, who got the game winner on a lay-up just as the overtime buzzer sounded.

The rule, proposed by France, would create a class of players that would be permitted to take part in an unlimited number of tournaments and receive all the expenses they could command.

They, according to the French view, would remain amateurs and be eligible for Davis Cup play.

The catch is in the definition of an amateur. As far as the USLTA is concerned, these players would be professionals.

Here is the USLTA view: Even if it were not against the proposal on moral grounds, it is plain that the authorized players roll the first ball.

Promoters have spent the last week showing films of American bowlers and Tuesday opened the alleys at suburban Stamford Hill to the British press.

After watching the films, Britons thought the game looked easy. Most tried their luck—and most failed to keep the 16-pound ball out of the gutter.

Stamford Hill lanes has 11 well-polished alleys and automatic pin-setters. The cost per game, will be 42 cents.

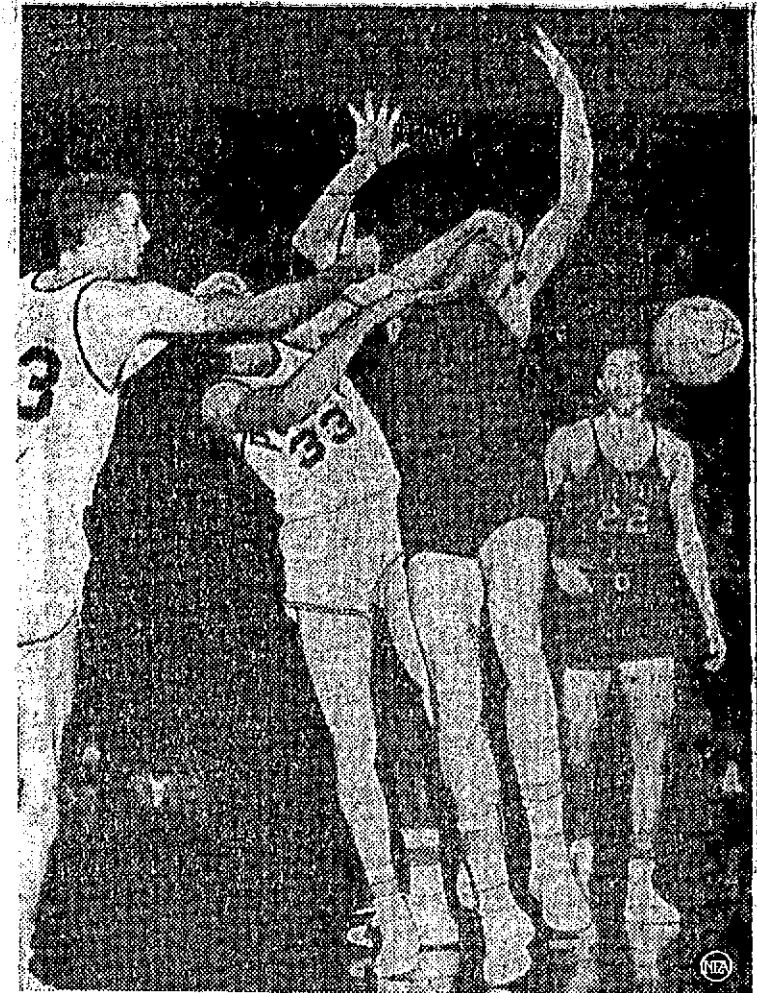

The organization's first move is an attempt to get the 1961 Legislature to reduce from a gallon to a quart the amount of liquor allowed in possession in dry territory.

Brown appealed to lawyers to volunteer their services in drawing up proposed legislation to be submitted to the Legislature.

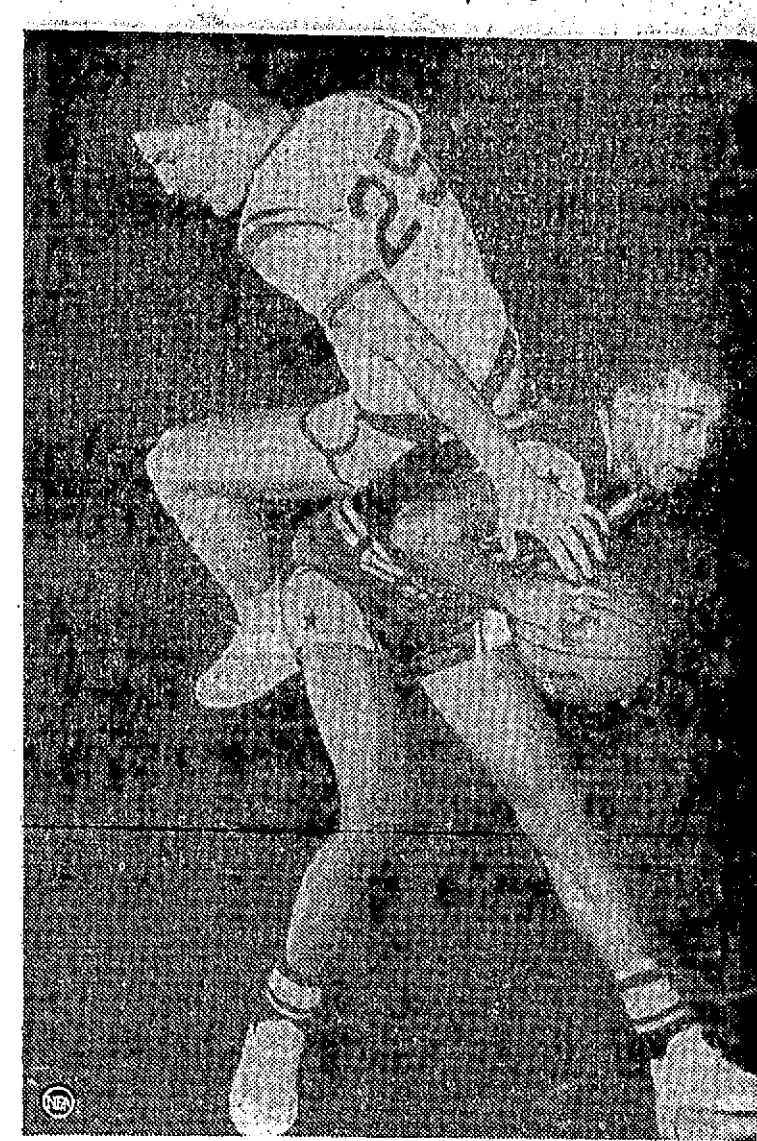

The foundation raised its annual budget from $22,000 to $23,000.

Brown said county branches of the CCF have been organized in 68 of Arkansas' 75 counties.

"Arkansas now leads all states in the union in its possibilities for moral reform," he said.

Group Charts Course to Dry Up State

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The Christian Civic Foundation of Arkansas at its first annual meeting yesterday charted its course in drying up the state.

Executive director William E. Brown told delegates from all over the state that the Christian Civic Foundation would not rest until the sale of liquor is prohibited in the state and its consumption is abolished.

The organization's first move is an attempt to get the 1961 Legislature to reduce from a gallon to a quart the amount of liquor allowed in possession in dry territory.

Brown appealed to lawyers to volunteer their services in drawing up proposed legislation to be submitted to the Legislature.

A&M, Ranked 10, Licks Rice to Take SWC Lead

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Texas A&M, ranked tenth nationally in the Associated Press poll, whipped the Rice Owls last night and went ahead of the field in the Southwest Conference basketball race.

The Aggies, tied with Arkansas and Southern Methodist before defeating the Owls 61-43 Tuesday night, now have a 4-1 conference record. Rice is winless in the conference and SMU and Arkansas have 3-1 marks.

Carroll Broussard, the Aggies' great sophomore had a bad night—for him—and tallied only eight points, getting four field goals out of 10 shots at the basket.

David Cline, the Owls' great shotmaker, kept the Rice offense clicking and kept the Owls in the game with a very respectable 19 points. Craig Hill field goals and nine of 14 charity shots.

The Aggies were never behind in taking their 12th victory of the season against a single loss, that to Southern Methodist last week. At one time they held a 22-point lead.

Wayne Lawrence overshadowed most of the season by the 16-10 Broussard, chipped in four field goals and five out of six free throws for 13 points to lead the Cadets in scoring.

The A&M-Rice tussle was the last game involving a Southwest Conference team this week due to mid-term examinations. Arkansas opens up play again Jan. 28 in Tulsa against the Tulsa University Hurricane. Baylor plays Kansas State at Manhattan, Kan., Jan. 30, the same day Texas Christian and Texas reopen conference warfare at Lubbock, Tex.

Crews Working to Divert Lava Flow
HONOLULU (AP) — Bulldozer crews worked frantically through Monday night trying to divert a relentless river of glowing lava that authorities fear may creep into Hawaii Island's tiny Kapoho village.

The fiery river has become more fluid and is moving faster. One seething finger from the main flow is menacing Kapoho School, authorities said.

The main fountain's 11,500-foot burst are spreading a wider path to the Pacific, three miles away. Kapoho, a village of 300 residents, is on one edge of the swelling river of fire.

Gov. William F. Quinn, who made a second trip to the eruption area, declared a state of disaster in the farming community.

The lava is flowing from a rift on the lower slopes of Kilauwa volcano.

It has broken through emergency dikes and destroyed two homes, popular Warm Springs picnic area, a fish pond, and 180 acres of sugar land.

Lakers' to Take Plane Out of Field
CARROLL, Iowa. (AP) — The Minneapolis Lakers' private DC3 airplane is expected to be flown from a snow-covered cornfield where it made an emergency landing during a storm early yesterday.

Yernon Smith and Merwin Cockcroft, engineers for Gopher Aviation Co. of Rochester, Minn., said today the plane was being repaired and serviced.

They said a takeoff might be tried tomorrow.

The plane, with its electrical system out of order, was landed by a Gopher Aviation pilot in the field during a snow storm. The 23 persons aboard, including 10 members of the Minneapolis professional basketball team, escaped injury.

Gopher aviation flies and services the plane which is owned by the Lakers. The Lakers on board included guard Frank Selvy,

Literally Caught by Seat of Pants

FL DORADO, Ark. (AP) — A Young Mississippi minister was caught by the seat of his pants in the wreckage of a sports car near here last night. He was freed only when he shed the trousers in freezing weather.

The car, carrying Rev. Thomas D. Hall, 27, of Charleston, Miss., the driver, and the Rev. Bill Baker, 26, of Pontotoc, Miss., plunged over an embankment and overturned twice on Highway 82 near here.

Hall was thrown free but Baker's pants were caught on a window post.

A passing bus stopped and the driver and passengers helped free Hall.

Neither of the two ministers was hurt seriously.

Pinned Driver Is Rescued From Flame

WEINER, Ark. (AP) — A loaded truck crashed into a bridge abutment at nearby Paysonway last night and burst into flames, pinning the driver in the wreckage. He was rescued by two men who heard the crash and explosion of the truck's gasoline tank.

James H. Prestidge, 49, of Weiner, apparently lost control of the tractor-trailer which was hauling a cargo of soybeans.

State Trooper Sid Riley said Joe Gooch and Monroe Wren were at a store near the scene when the accident occurred. They ran to the truck and worked for 15 minutes with a jack and wrecking bar to free Prestidge from the cab.

Prestidge was taken to a Memorial hospital where he was reported in serious condition from burns.

duce such a bill. Later, Clark said he and Faubus had reached a compromise under which the governor would ask for five million dollars to buy the city-county revenue bonds.

Faubus specifically advised against state participation in the Finance Corp., a private group dedicated to financing industry.

The governor did not mention a five million dollar figure in his opening address, but the figure was included in the act appropriating funds to buy the bonds. State participation is limited to two million dollars at any one time. A governor's aide said the larger appropriation was needed to enable the state to reinvest money it might obtain from any sale of bonds purchased within the two million dollar limit.

Legislators applauded three times during a Faubus attack on welfare payments to illegitimate children. The governor hinted at a new federal-state controversy over 54 cases, involving 130 illegitimate children, which the Welfare Department removed from its rolls. Faubus said federal authorities might try to force the state to resume these payments on grounds that illegitimacy was the main grounds for removal.

Faubus said his administration would continue to fight against payments for illegitimacy and added, "It is time that some challenge was made to the federal attitude of encouraging illegitimacy throughout this nation by these payments."

The other handclapping interruption came when Faubus noted that no public school had been integrated in Arkansas without the approval of local authorities. The governor brushed off the subject of integration in less than 100 words.

Eisenhower indicated that, despite the painful impact of last fall's 116-day steel strike, he will resist any moves in Congress to restrict collective bargaining or regulate private wage and price decisions.

Keeping wage settlements within the limits of rising productivity, the President said, is the joint responsibility of labor and management—a responsibility that is "especially great in industries that are basic to the nation's defenses and economic health."

"Labor-management disputes in basic industries should be settled promptly, preferably without recourse to strikes, and certainly without extended interruptions of production that cause widespread dislocation and unemployment and threaten to paralyze our entire economy," the message said.

inches deeper tonight. Things probably will get even worse, they said, for freezing rain is expected and that glazes with ice, most everything it touches.

The storm that began Monday spread out a big overnight, marching northward as far as Puget Sound and dropping snow in Seattle.

The depth of the snow in Portland ranged from nine inches downtown to a foot in the plush residential areas in the city's west hills.

All major highways were reported open. But officials warned that all were dangerous, and urged a travel boycott on much-traveled U.S. Highway 30 up the Columbia Gorge.

At the capital at Salem, where the snow depth ranged from five to 10 inches, Gov. Mark Hatfield urged everyone to stay off highways unless travel was a sheer necessity.

Thousands apparently heeded the advice in Portland. Streets were virtually deserted and stores and business firms started closing phibian, made a routine refueling stop Tuesday at Naples, Italy, and then took off for Adana.

It was due there at 3:45 p.m. (8:45 a.m. EST). A hunt by air ground and sea was launched when the plane, after making radio contact with the base while about 50 miles from Adana, failed to show up.

A British search plane was first to spot the wreckage, on a peak about 9,500 feet high. An American rescue team of 40 men set out for the area.

Names of the persons on the Navy plane were withheld.

The dead in the Ankara crash included one American, identified as James Jopkins.

The plane was a French-built twin-jet Caravelle operated by Scandinavian Airlines. It was the first commercial crash for the Caravelle since Air France said the crash "was caused by technical reasons—not the weather."

The Caravelle had left Stockholm and Copenhagen Tuesday and had stopped in Dusseldorf, Germany, Vienna, Austria, and Istanbul.

From Ankara it was to fly on to Damascus and Cairo. As it approached Ankara it carried 35 passengers and a crew of 7.

About five minutes before he was to land, the pilot asked the Ankara airport control tower for landing clearance. He reported an altitude of 6,500 feet, then went silent.

Airport workers saw a bright flash and put out an alarm. Rescue teams found the wreckage scattered over about 300 square yards. Half the plane lay on one slope of a hill about 75 yards high. The rest lay on another slope. Bodies were strewn over 100 yards.

The Ankara crash followed two U.S. plane disasters. A Capital Airlines plane crashed near Richmond, Va., Monday killing 50 persons. On Jan. 6 a National Airlines plane exploded in the air near Bolivia, N.C., killing 34.

Withdraw Application for a TV Station

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Communications Commission announced today that Alan G. Patten, Jr. and Matthew C. Patten, operators of radio station KBTM, Jonesboro, Ark., have withdrawn their application for a channel 8 TV station there.

The action leaves George T. Herneich of Fort Smith, Ark., unopposed for the Jonesboro channel. The commission said Herneich will pay $7,385 to the Patten brothers in partial reimbursement for their contest expenses.
